Augusta

Hope House, a non-profit provider of substance use disorder treatment for women, is pleased to accept referrals for immediate support and treatment at our Augusta, GA clinic.

Our GA STRONG (Standing Together in Recovery to Overcome and Nurture Growth) Program includes specialized treatment services for pregnant and postpartum women. Our clinic is nestled on a four-acre quiet, suburban setting designed for accessibility including local bus routes. Just 10 minutes from downtown Augusta, this location provides opportunities for participants to access parenting services, substance use treatment, case management services, family reunification counseling and peer support.

FAMILY CENTERED TREATMENT

Specially trained staff provide the appropriate amount of support and services while encouraging participants the opportunity to embrace goal-setting while they continue to move along our continuum of recovery and addiction support programs for women, children and their families.
